

Why You Should Attend the Owl Evolution Summit 2026: Mission: Possible

In today's environment, where cyber and physical threats continue to converge, secure decision-making is critical to mission success. The Owl Evolution Summit 2026: Mission: Possible is your opportunity to gain valuable insight into the technologies, strategies, and real-world approaches that help organizations stay mission-ready in the face of evolving challenges.

Why Should You Attend?

This summit is more than just another event. It is an immersive, high-impact experience designed to deliver actionable insight you can bring back to your team. Through compelling sessions, expert perspectives, and realistic mission-focused scenarios, attendees will explore the challenges shaping today's operational landscape—from disinformation and AI in contested environments to secure, real-time decision-making under pressure.

You'll hear from leaders across government and industry and gain practical takeaways that can support your organization's operations immediately. This Evolution Summit is built to show how the right technologies and strategies can help make secure, informed actions and decisions achievable in complex environments.

Why Should Your Boss Approve Your Attendance?

In times of limited budgets and resources, every investment must be justifiable. Here's why attending the Owl Evolution Summit is worth both your time and your organization's resources:

- I. No Cost to Attend: The summit is completely free, making it an easy decision when it comes to budget constraints.
- II. Time Well Spent: With a focused schedule, and optional afternoon practitioner sessions, the summit provides critical insights without demanding too much time away from your mission.
- III. Immediate Impact: The knowledge you'll gain about cutting-edge cybersecurity solutions is directly applicable to current and future missions, helping you make more informed, timely decisions when it matters most.
- IV. Networking with Experts: The event offers opportunities to connect with top-tier leaders in both the government and private sectors, opening doors for potential collaboration and resources to support your agency's mission.
- V. Cutting-Edge Knowledge: The ever-evolving nature of cyber and kinetic threats requires staying ahead of the curve. This is your opportunity to learn firsthand about the technologies that are helping secure decision-making in mission-critical environments.
- VI. CPE Credits Available: We will be offering CPE credits for this event, helping you meet your annual requirements while gaining valuable insights that contribute to your professional development.

With the challenges federal agencies face today, this summit provides real, actionable value—without the cost or time commitment of many other events. It's an opportunity to learn, network, and stay ahead in a fast-paced environment.

Secure your Spot Today! Register: <https://owlcyberdefense.com/owl-evolution-summit-2026/>